SIMPLIFYING ARCHITECTURAL PROCESSES

Transform your practice without changing set methods.

Redbracket HUB is the result of meticulous observation & 25 years of architectural experience. It enables designers to focus on creativity by automating the mundane but necessary day to day activities of the practice and resolves their current and envisaged concerns. It helps practices to streamline and simplify their current processes.

CONCERNS OF AN ARCHITECTURAL PRACTICE

FRAGMENTED INFO

- A single person is confined with all information regarding the project which wouldn't be easible for a single person to keep everyone in the loop.
- Communication done through individual emails makes tracking and it's retrieval immensely difficult.
- Retrieval of prior project-related data is quite tedious and time consuming.

INDIVIDUAL DEPENDENCY

- When an employee leaves, vital information pertaining that particular employee goes to vain.
- The handover process takes time and it causes severe misplacement of project information.
- Retrieval of previous project data and catching up with current status is difficult for a new team.

MANAGING PRODUCT LIBRARY

- Discovery of new products is time consuming and challenging.
- It is time-consuming to get product specifications.
- Updating Product and Material library and retriveal of its information, takes up most of the time and resources.

MANAGING DOCUMENTS

- Drawing status of conceptual, schematic, working, etc. is not easily indentifiable.
- Various issues affect files such as files being moved or deleted, and at times even the usage of wrong version can be a great hindrance.
- Lack of tracking user activity can further hinder to establish accountability.

PRACTICE MONITORING

- It is exhausting to calculate overall time-consumed on drawing and project activities for various evaluations.
- It is exhausting to calculate an employee's activity and task wise time on projects, drawings, etc.
